
Real Reform

Rx: For best results, focus on health care freedom. Let Americans keep the freedom to make their own health care decisions, and target reforms to those who need help the most.

Suggested doses for best health:

- Buying health insurance across state lines – create more competition and more options for patients
- Lawsuit-abuse reform – reduce extra tasks that are holding doctors back from treating patients and driving up costs
- Tax credits for all incomes – level the playing field so that all Americans get a tax benefit for buying health insurance, not just those who get insurance through the workplace

Warning: After receiving this prescription, avoid the following:

- Government control of health insurance – no new government programs for health insurance, whether a government-run plan or government-sanctioned “co-op”
- Government-forced insurance – mandating that Americans buy health insurance according to the federal government
- Government control of health care decisions or available treatments using any commissions, boards or appointees
- Raising taxes on businesses, health care providers, or patients, directly or indirectly
